An aerial photograph of the Monte Carlo Rolex Master tennis tournament. The central focus is a large, orange-red clay tennis court with white boundary lines. Several players are visible on the court, engaged in a match. The court is surrounded by tiered seating filled with a large crowd of spectators. In the background, the blue sea meets the shore, with a large cruise ship visible on the water. The city of Monte Carlo is built into the hills, with various buildings and a row of flags on a terrace overlooking the court. The sky is clear and blue.
